

Privacy Policy at Windhunter Service

The company processes Clients' personal data in compliance with the security measures required by Polish law, the applicable provisions of therein. Personal data is processed by the Company in accordance with the Personal Data Protection Act only for marketing purposes.

The company ensures the implementation of the rights resulting from the act mentioned above, in particular the right to access the content of its data, correct it, and the right to object in the cases specified in the provisions thereof.

Clients of Windhunter Service provide their personal data voluntarily.

The transfer of personal data and the authorization process, if applicable, is carried out using a secure protocol. The Company may send the requested information, promotional and offer mailing to the Client's e-mail address, after consent.

Personal data is used only for the conclusion and implementation of services provided by Windhunter Service. Personal data will be transferred to third parties only if it is necessary for the provision of these services, in particular, for the purpose of settlements.

Anyone who has consented to the use and transfer of personal data has the right to withdraw their prior consent at any time and with appropriate effect in the future. For this purpose, please send a message to the following e-mail address info@windhunter.com or send an appropriate letter to the Windhunter Service headquarters' address, which at the same time enables Clients to change, modify or delete their personal data by sending a message to the following e-mail address info@windhunter.com or sending a registered letter to the company's address.

In case of any questions regarding the privacy policy, Windhunter Service security rules, or the use of the company's services, send an e-mail to the following e-mail address: info@windhunter.com.

Other disclosed information (cookies)

When visiting the Windhunter Service website, pieces of code called cookies are saved on your computer. They are used to ensure optimal service when visiting our website and enable faster and easier access to information. Cookies are not used to process personal data and their content does not allow for the identification of the user. Cookies are used on many websites. If cookies are disabled, some elements of the Windhunter Service may not be available.

All capitalized terms have the meaning assigned to them in the Regulations.